

Contents

	Introduction: Human Rights Have a Future	10
	Jessica Corredor-Villamil
Chapter 1	The Dark Cloud and Lack of Air	14
	Marisa Viegas e Silva
Chapter 2	Venezuela's Judiciary under the "Bolivarian Revolution"	28
	Ezequiel Monsalve
Chapter 3	The Advent of Philosopher-Judges as an Alternative Form of Democratic Expression	48
	Karim Nammour
Chapter 3	"We Used to Have Clean Water": The Fishers of Juá and the Challenge for Human Rights	68
	Rodrigo Magalhães de Oliveira
Chapter 4	Notions of the "Sacred": A Tale of Two Cases of the Right to Nature in India	84
	Arpitha Kodiveri
Chapter 5	"I Go to the Toilet and the Crap Disappears"	96
	Yamile E. Najle
Chapter 6	Sitting by the River and Washing Your Hands with Spittle: The Story of Informal Miners of Obuasi	108
	Richard Ellimah
Chapter 7	Human Rights Has a Case of COVID-19	120
	Slavenska Zec

Chapter 8	Operation Hurricane: Digital Surveillance Aimed at Criminalizing the Mapuche Cause	134
	Sebastián Becker Castellaro
Chapter 9	Bakur : Chronicles of Unrealized Futures	154
	Enis Kostepen
Chapter 10	The Rise of Autocracy in Hungary	170
	Evgeny Belyakov
Chapter 11	Tolls of Victims, Zero Accountability	184
	Osamah Alfakih
Chapter 12	Tagged for Slaughter: To Be a Human Rights Worker under a Dictatorship	198
	Mary Louise Dumas
	Contributors	208
	Reimagining the Future of Human Rights	